Inspiration...

*"an inspiring influence,
any stimulus to creative thought or action."*

The San Antonio community is invited to join Roy Maas' Youth Alternatives (RMYA) in paying tribute to businesswoman Lana Duke, for her inspiring dedication to the children of RMYA, at a special reception and rare public tour of two multi-million dollar homes – the Burdick Inspiration Home by Burdick Custom Homes and the Imagination Home by Image Homes Custom Builders – in the new Denton Communities housing development of Huntington at Shavano Park.

RMYA, an inspirational organization dedicated to helping abused and neglected children, presents its Roy Maas Humanitarian Award to individuals or groups who show significant contributions and leadership in service to RMYA and the children in its care.

Lana Duke has been inspiring RMYA for five years. As a former foster child, Lana feels a special bond with children in need and has made it her mission to inspire them to realize their full potential, to show them that they can succeed in life, just like her. Lana shows her love for the RMYA children through her physical support at community outreach opportunities, through financial sponsorships and by utilizing the resources of the Ruth's Chris Steak House restaurants she owns in San Antonio. Lana isn't just a name to the children; they know her through many face-to-face opportunities she shares with them. Lana Duke's ongoing support of and dedication to RMYA's children in need is truly inspirational.

Join us April 9 for an inspirational event honoring an inspirational woman, at two inspirational homes, to benefit an inspirational organization.

Thank you for your inspirational support and commitment to providing a better future for our children.
